

ABSTRACT

In order to effectively prevent diffusion of a harmful substance to a non-polluted soil side with a relatively simple and inexpensive construction without requiring a large-scale system, a pollution diffusion preventive wall member (1) is installed underground for partitioning between a polluted soil side (2) and a non-polluted soil side (3), the wall member (1) being formed of wall forming material having water-permeability and containing a rare earth compound carried therein.